LOW TURNOUT, HIGHER RATIO OF EXCLUDED BALLOTS MARK PP-168 BY-ELECTION

The declining voter turnout and low incidence of electoral irregularities marked the by-election in PP-168 Lahore-XXV which witnessed a shrinking margin of victory and a slight increase in ballots excluded from the count.

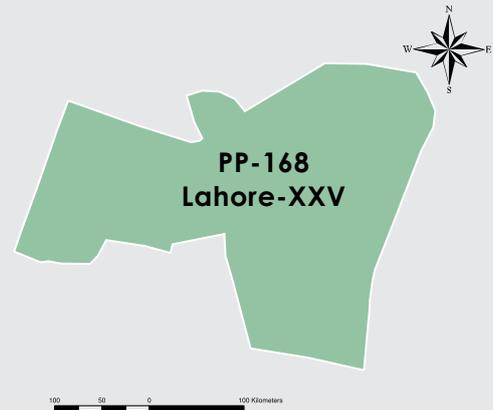

Free and Fair Election Network (FAFEN) deployed 23 trained, non-partisan and duly accredited observers including eight women for observation of the by-election in the constituency. This report is based on the reports received from 64 (77%) out of 83 polling stations.

FAFEN observers reported 59 incidents of violations of voters' secrecy, 34 incidents of illegal campaigning, 34 violations in voting process, and three violations in the counting process. The percentage of the ballots excluded from the count registered a slight increase from 1.7% in General Election (GE) 2018 to 1.85% in the recent by-election. The margin of victory also shrank from 19,174 in GE-2018 to a paltry 687 in the by-election.

Though many political parties showed little interest in running for the constituency, two major contenders Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) and Pakistan Muslim-League Nawaz (PML-N) proactively campaigned and were observed using oversized materials across the constituency. Unlike the previous by-elections, the mainstream leadership of major parties avoided visiting the constituency for the campaign. The PML-N and an independent candidate interviewed prior to the polling day accused PTI candidate of using money and government's influence for his election campaign.

Election Commission of Pakistan (ECP) made strict security arrangements for the by-election deploying Pakistan Rangers inside and outside polling stations along with the overseas Pakistanis to exercise their right to vote from abroad. As many as 4,667 overseas Pakistanis spread across more than ten countries were eligible to register themselves for voting in PP-168 by-election.

Contesting Parties and Candidates

A total of 11 candidates contested the by-election in PP-168, four less than the number of candidates contesting this seat in GE-2018. No woman contested the by-election unlike the GE-2018 during which Muttahida Majlis-e-Amal Pakistan (MMAP) had nominated a woman to run from this constituency. Furthermore, four political parties – PTI, PML-N, PTI-Nazriati and TLP - nominated their candidates for these by-elections, in comparison to seven parties – PTI, PML-N, Pakistan Peoples' Party Parliamentarian, TLP, MMAP, Allah-o-Akbar Tehreek, and National Party who contested this constituency in GE-2018.

Campaigning and Canvassing

FAFEN observers noted the presence of party camps in 53 or 83% of the observed polling stations' surroundings, whereas no party camp was seen near 11 or 17% polling stations. None of the party camps exhibited any campaign material, nor any armed persons in camps. The ECP's Code of Conduct for Contesting Candidates and Political Parties prohibits the candidates or their supporters from providing transport services to the voters on election day. However, FAFEN observers witnessed the contesting candidates providing transportation to voters in the surroundings of 34 or 53% of the observed polling stations.

During the pre-election campaign-period, FAFEN observers also witnessed violations of the ECP's Code of Conduct with campaign materials of larger than prescribed sizes witnessed across the constituency. Moreover, at least at two polling stations' buildings, campaign materials were pasted on the walls even on the Election Day.

Voting Process

The voting process continued uninterrupted at all of the observed polling stations; however, at one polling station a break was observed by the polling officials. None of the observers reported any person influencing voters throughout the Election Day.

FAFEN's Election Day observation suggests that the secrecy screens were properly placed to protect the privacy of the voters at 180 (90%) of the observed polling booths, whereas the placement of these screens at the remaining 21 (10%) polling booths allowed the persons present inside the booths to see the voters marking their ballot papers. Moreover, the direction of Close Circuit Television (CCTV) cameras at 38 polling stations compromised the voters' secrecy.

Authorized polling agents, candidates' representatives who are allowed to witness the polling process and object any irregularity as defined under the law, were seated appropriately at most (168 or 84%) polling stations, and they were able to see the entire polling process first-hand. However, the seating arrangement for the polling agents at the remaining 33 (16%) polling stations did not enable them to see the polling process clearly.

Counting Process

Similar to the voting process, the counting process was also smooth across the 16 observed polling stations. With the exception of one Presiding Officer (PrO), all the remaining PrOs conducted two counts of the votes for each candidate. Legally, the PrOs may recount the votes on their own motion or on a request by candidates or their agents present during the counting process. None of the polling agents refused to sign the Result of The Count (Form-45). Moreover, all of the PrOs pasted the Form-45 outside their respective polling stations. However, the Ballot Paper Account (Form-46) were pasted outside 14 of the 16 polling stations. It was also observed that all the PrOs transmitted the election result through Result Transmission System (RTS). However, 14 of them had to seek security personnel's assistance in the use of RTS.

Nearly a quarter (16 out of 64) PrOs interviewed on the Election Day shared that they were given mobile phones by ECP to electronically transmit the election result after completion of counting. The remaining 48 PrOs said they would use their own phones to transmit the result. A total of four (6%) PrOs expressed dissatisfaction with the training provided by the ECP on use of RTS.

Conduct of Security Staff

The security personnel were observed present outside all of the observed polling stations on the Election Day. However, the early-day observation suggests that no security staff was present at two polling stations prior to the start of polling process. The security personnel were also deployed inside the polling booths as well. Of 201 polling booths observed on polling day, security personnel were present inside 165 or 82% polling booths.

Security personnel present outside polling stations were seen checking voters' National Identity Cards (NICs) as well as voter chits (perches) on 64 (100%) and 62 (97%) polling stations, respectively. The vot chits containing the serial number of the voter on the electoral roll are usually issued from parties' or candidates' camps outside the polling stations. These chits are helpful for the election staff to find the voters on the electoral rolls. However, the Elections Act and the Elections' Rules do not permit denying any voter entry to a polling station if they do not have a chit. Similarly, the Code of Conduct for Security Officials issued during GE-2018 also prohibited security officials from barring any voter for not carrying NIC or vote-chit as it is the duty of the polling staff to ascertain the identity of the voter and process his credentials.

The security personnel were seen frisking the voters before letting them inside the polling stations in 61 (95) instances while they were allowing persons without any search at the remaining three (5%) polling stations. Moreover, the security personnel were observed allowing voters to carry mobile phones with them at four (6%) polling stations.

FAFEN interviewed 16 presiding officers after the completion of the counting process. All of the interviewed officers expressed satisfaction with the conduct of the security staff and their cooperation for effective management of the polling day processes.

Setting up of Polling Stations

ECP set up 83 polling stations – 27 male, 24 female, and 32 combined - for bye-elections in the constituency. The total number of the polling stations was same as the number of polling stations established during GE-2018; however, one female polling station was converted to combined polling stations. These polling stations comprised 145 male and 117 female polling booths.

The Elections Act, 2017 stipulates a limit of 1,200 voters per polling station and 300 per polling booth to be followed as far as practicable. On an average, 1,529 voters were assigned to each polling station in the recent election. A closer look at the List of Polling Stations reveals a higher degree of variation among polling stations. Only 20 out of 83 polling stations were assigned 1,200 or less voters while remaining three quarters (63) were assigned above 1,200 voters each. As many as 49 polling stations had voters between 1,201 and 2,000 while remaining 14 polling stations were assigned above 2,000 voters each.

Independent Observation

Section 238 of the Elections Act, 2017 permits duly verified and accredited election observers to observe the proceedings including the voting and counting processes. In compliance with the legal provision, FAFEN's trained, nonpartisan and accredited observers were allowed to observe the polling process at 48 polling stations without any restrictions while they had to persuade the election staff at 16 polling stations. Similarly, FAFEN observers were allowed to observe the counting process at 16 polling stations, though they had to convince the election staff at two polling stations that they were legally accredited observers allowed to remain present in the counting process.
